

High Plains Community Schools

Every Student! Every Day! Every Way!

Formed in July of 2000, the High Plains Community Schools was created by the merger of Clarks Public Schools and Polk-Hordville Public Schools.

In the 2019-2020 school year, High Plains Community Schools initiated a new grade configuration, with Grades PK-6 attending school in Clarks, and Grades 7-12 attending in Polk. High Plains Community Schools is a financially stable district with a great FFA program, quality teachers, community support, respectful students and staff, and great facilities for a district its size.

The High Plains area is an Ag based community that puts pride and effort into school, extra curriculars, or anything needed to support all students in their educational journey.
